

Miscellaneous Levy Order Details

Commencement

The order will come into force on 19th November 2019.

Interpretation

FGLT means the incorporated society known as the Forest Growers Levy Trust Incorporated;

Forest owner means the owner of trees in a plantation forest, whether or not

- a. that owner owns the land on which the trees are planted; or
- b. cutting rights to the trees have been granted to another person

Harvested wood material

- a. means any material that is, or is derived from, trees harvested from a plantation forest; and
- b. without limitation, includes logs, woodchips, bin wood, posts, hogged material, and forest waste; but
- c. does not include Christmas trees, tree bark sold directly from the forest.

National Forest Health Surveillance Scheme means the programme of monitoring the pest and disease status of New Zealand forests administered by the New Zealand Forest Owners Association and the Ministry of Primary Industries.

New Zealand Forest Owners Association means the incorporated society known as The New Zealand Forest Owners Association Incorporated;

Plantation forest

- a. means any forest (whether exotic or native) that has grown as a result of being planted; and
- b. includes any regenerated planted forest

Forestry Road Map means “A Forestry Roadmap for Aotearoa New Zealand: 2020-2050”, published in March 2019 by the FOA, or the most recent strategic plan relating to forestry that is later published by the FOA.